Dear John:

I appreciate your letter of June 7, 1960 with its enclosure which I have read with care. Needless to say, we are giving most careful consideration to developments in Japan in relation to the President's visit and have received a wealth of reports on the situation as it is developing. To cancel the trip on American initiative would certainly mean a great victory for the Communists and anti-American forces in the Far East.

On the other hand, we appreciate that there are risks inherent in a situation as explosive as that in Japan today. Certainly all of the factors will be considered over the coming days.

Did you send a copy of this message to the Department of State? If not, I suggest you might do so, or if you prefer I could pass along to them a copy of what you have sent me.

Again, many thanks for bringing this to my attention.

Faithfully,

Allen W. Dulles

Dear Allen:

The attached cable has just come to me from Tokyo. It is signed by Yasaka Takagi, Professor Emeritus at Tokyo University, and Shigeharu Matsumoto, Executive Director of the International House of Japan.

Because of my respect for and confidence in the two men, I am forwarding a copy to you. Both men have pretty much devoted their lives in the last few years to fostering better understanding between Japan and the United States. They work closely together, not only in relation to the International House but in connection with all other matters relating to U.S.-Japanese friendship, where they feel that they can be constructive and helpful.

With warmest best wishes, I am

Sincerely,
